Who am I? A self portrait activity	 Who am I? worksheet "Like me" or "Not like me" worksheet PPT Part 1 	 In preparation, the teacher completes the Who am I? worksheet. Explain to the class that the purpose of this activity is to get them thinking about who they are. Talk through your completed worksheet. Then encourage children to complete their own. They can use a combination of pictures and words. Adjust the balance according to pupil ability. To support and prompt them further, you can share some of the personal traits listed on the "Like me" or not "Like me" worksheet. Discussion: What do they think they might want to do when they grow up and why? 	 Pupils: are able to describe themselves. can talk positively about what they might like to do.
People in my community		 Ask children to draw a quick picture of someone in the community that helps them. What job do they do? Discussion: What have they drawn? Can anyone do that job? 	 Pupils: understand people help us in different ways. know there is no such thing as a man's or woman's job.
Introducing the National Health Service (NHS)	• Timeline • PPT Part 2	 Explain that the NHS has been helping people since 1948. Using the timeline, can they find the following answers? 1. What does the NHS stand for? 2. When was it set-up? 3. Why was it set-up? 4. How many patients does it see? 5. How many different jobs are there in the NHS? This exercise can be delivered as an individual or a mixed ability group activity. Question: What jobs can they think of in the NHS? Encourage them to think about their own or family members' experiences. Do the children think of many answers beyond doctor and nurse? 	Pupils: • know about the NHS
Myth busting quiz about the NHS	• Did you really know? quiz in PPT Part 1	 Use the quiz to dispel any misconceptions such as: the NHS is simply made-up of doctors and nurses. men can't be midwives or nurses. women can't be s urgeons, etc. The quiz is multiple choice making it fun and accessible. 	 Pupils: understand there are a wide range of jobs in the NHS. know there is no such thing as a man's or woman's job.
Introduce the Step into the NHS competition	• Short film about the competition	 Explain that the class will be exploring a wide range of jobs in the NHS and, then, taking part in an exciting competition to say thank you to the NHS. Play the film. 	Pupils:understand the aims of the competition.

My community	 Vibrant community scene from PPT Part 3 	 Explain to the children that you are going to show them a scene taken from a local community. Ask them to look carefully at the picture. Question: How many different jobs can they think of? Capture a range of responses. Prompt if necessary. For example, who works in our school? Who might work in a bank? What sort of work might they do? Does anyone else work with a dentist? What different jobs do they see people doing in a supermarket? Question: From the jobs they have come up with, how many could they do for the NHS? They might be surprised to hear that they can do most, if not all of them, for the NHS! 	 Pupils: are able to identify and describe some of the jobs in the community. know about a wide range of jobs in the NHS.
Patient stories	 Sophie's and Ajay's story cards PPT Part 3 	 Read Ajay and/or Sophie's story in class. Ask children to listen carefully to the stovries as they will need to make a note of how many different people Ajay and Sophie meet. If preferred, you can hand out the story card worksheets and ask children to highlight or underline all the different people/jobs they hear about. Question: Did they expect so many different people to be involved? Alternatively, or as a follow-up activity, children can act out the stories in small groups. 	 Pupils: know about a wide range of jobs in the NHS.
Job cards	 Job cards x 27 Job card template 	 Read through some of the job cards as a class, or display them around the room. Remind children of some of the jobs from the community scene too, like accountant or gardener. Ask them to select a job and make a poster about it. You can apply additional rules, depending on the ability of the children. For example: Include five key words on every poster. Create an image board with photos taken from the internet/magazines. Show what they wear and what equipment they use. Children share/talk through their posters with the rest of the class. Homework activity: Ask children to fill in a job card template for someone in their family 	 Pupils: understand different jobs require different qualities and skills.
When I look into my future		• Ask children to write 'When I look into my future' in the middle of a page. Around it, they write, draw or add pictures of all the things they see in their future. This can include pets, friends, family as well as the different jobs they are interested in, or see themselves doing.	 Pupils: can represent themselves in pictures and words. can positively convey what they might like to do.
Competition to say thank you to the NHS	 Short film about the competition PPT Part 5 	 Recap on the competition using the short film or PowerPoint slides provided. Explain that they can showcase what they have learned by taking part in the competition. 	 Pupils: know about a wide r ge of jobs in the NHS and share what they have learnt with others. feel proud of their achievements.

You can enrich the programme further by inviting parents into school to talk about what they do, especially if they hold non-stereotypical roles in the NHS. Encourage speakers to bring any interesting equipment they might use in their work to grab the children's attention.
